normally be held for at least five years. Changes in the rates of exchange may affect the value of investments. Certain Funds can invest in overseas securities which may also generate profits overseas and pay dividends in foreign currencies, which means the funds are exposed to changes in currency rates. Certain Funds may invest in emerging markets. It should be noted that these markets have additional risks associated with local custody and registration practices that may be less developed than more mature markets. Certain Funds take their charges from the capital of the fund. Investors should be aware that there is potential for future capital erosion. Certain Funds may hold sub-investment grade bonds that typically have a low credit rating and carry a high degree of default risk, which can affect the capital value of your investment. Certain Funds may hold fixed interest securities, which are particularly affected by trends in interest rates and inflation. This may affect the capital value of your investment. Certain Funds have a concentrated portfolio of stocks due to investment in a single country and/or geographic area/limited industry diversification/investment in a limited number of securities, giving rise to concentration risk. Certain Funds may invest in smaller companies. Smaller companies may be riskier and less liquid than larger companies. This means that their share prices may be more volatile. Certain Funds may invest in illiquid securities, which means that there is a possibility that they cannot be readily converted into cash when required. The value of these securities is subject to greater fluctuation if they are not regularly traded. All of the sub-funds may use derivatives for efficient portfolio management (EPM) purposes. EPM restricts the use of derivatives for the reduction of risk, the reduction of cost and the generation of additional capital or income with no or an acceptable low level of risk. EPM transactions must be economically appropriate and the exposure fully covered. Certain Funds will, additionally to EPM, make use of the expanded regulations and use derivatives in pursuit of their investment objectives. All of these factors may affect the performance of the Funds.
